the land permanently benefitted so that its presence can be traced for years aferwards. PHILADA., Aug. 5th, 1856. "Baugh's Highly Improved Super-Phosphate of Lime," being made by a process which was contrived in my Laboratory, I am acquainted with its qualities. I regard it as superior to a super-phosphate made from bone ash or burned bone, because the more valuable portion of organic matter is not destroyed in Baugh's Super-Phosphate.

MISCELLANEOUS READING. COMMUNICATED. On receiving a flower of the English Heart's-Euse, in a letter from a friend.

Thrice welcome, little English flower! I press thee to my heart, And own thy sweet and thrilling power, All silent as thou art. For in each varied, faded hue,

I read her love who gave-Who sent thee, ever kind and true, Across the stormy wave. Her loving hand hath sent thee here, Her eye upon thee shone,

And dropped, perchance, the silent tear, O'er joys forever flown. Pale flower! I almost envy thee! Would that the gift were mine, Mirrored within thy leaves to see

That face still brightly shine! Vain wish! vet in her English home, Far o'er the deep blue sea, Thou art a token, that mine own, Doth still remember me: Beloved one! upon her head, God's choicest blessings rest!

His Gospel's precious hopes are shed, And dwell within her breast! May He, who car'st for thee, sweet flower, And robed thy slender form, Sustain her in life's darkest hour, By Jesus's strength uphorne! May He, who raised thee from the earth,

And gave each beauteous hue, Watch o'er her path, and round her hearth, His peace distil as dew! No more upon the shores of Time, May we, the parted, meet, But in a brighter, holier clime, May rest our pilgrim feet; Amid those bright eternal bowers, Earth's severed one's shall dwell,

Of sin and we to tell.

No drooping form-no withered flowers-
